INTRODUCTION

The Connecticut Arts Alliance is the only statewide advocacy organization for the arts. Currently led by a volunteer Board of Directors, the organization has made significant strides in recent years to unite the arts community in support of the arts and to elevate awareness of its importance among leaders of state government. With these successes as a foundation, the organization is now strategically positioned to significantly expand its work. This document lays out a 3-year plan that will secure the resources and lay the groundwork for a strengthened and more impactful organization.

The CT Arts Alliance was formed in 2005 by the leadership of some of the state’s prominent arts institutions. Deeply concerned by the steady and precipitous decline in state funding for the arts, the fledgling organization worked to establish a united voice for the creative community. Despite these early efforts, the decreases continued through and beyond the Great Recession. While nearby Rhode Island and Massachusetts began their recovery and eventually increased investments in the arts beyond pre-recession levels, Connecticut’s structural financial challenges forced even further decreases.

By 2015, arts leaders were calling on CT Arts Alliance to adopt a stronger, more proactive agenda to fight against this painful decade of declining state support. Inspired by MASSCreative’s innovative and grassroots approach in Massachusetts, the Board of Directors launched Create the Vote CT, a nonpartisan campaign to boost the voice of the arts during the 2018 gubernatorial election.
The initial outcomes from this first-time effort were both promising and significant:

- Engaged every gubernatorial candidate about why the arts are a key component of CT’s economic and community vitality through questionnaires, sit-down meetings, and site visits
- Organized and hosted the state’s first arts-focused Gubernatorial Candidate Forum with an audience of more than 200
- Enlisted 100 arts organizations as co-sponsors for the initiative

As a direct result of this work, the profile of the arts community was raised significantly and its members invited to the table in unprecedented ways: members of the community were invited to join incoming Governor Ned Lamont’s arts, culture and tourism policy task force while CT Arts Alliance hosted the first collaborative Arts, Culture, and Tourism Advocacy Day and influenced legislators to add the arts to the Culture and Tourism political caucus. Most importantly, Create the Vote CT helped to stabilize state arts funding for the first time in a decade.

Alongside these external successes, the Board of Directors was also strengthening its internal infrastructure - establishing a working committee structure, recruiting new board members that more closely mirror the makeup of Connecticut’s communities, and launching a charter membership program that raised critical revenue while adding new voices to the call for greater public and private support for the arts.

There is still much work ahead to build on these successes. However, with this forward-thinking and bold strategic plan in place—and the support of the state’s creative community, philanthropic sector, legislative leadership and thousands of individuals who believe in the power of the arts—CT Arts Alliance will be uniquely positioned to ensure that the arts are valued as fundamental components of a vibrant, healthy, connected, and equitable Connecticut.

When you stop having dreams and ideals - well, you might as well stop altogether.

In 2019, the CT Arts Alliance engaged Matt Wilson, founding Executive Director of MASSCreative, Massachusetts’s arts advocacy organization, as a consultant for this strategic plan. Matt had worked with CT Arts Alliance in the past and was familiar with the organization, CT’s advocacy efforts, and many arts and cultural leaders in the state. MASSCreative has served as a role model for CT Arts Alliance and Matt has received national recognition for his work building the organization and his advocacy efforts.
